Delta de Anza Regional Trail

This trail is named to commemorate the route taken by Spanish explorer Juan Bautista de Anza during his 18th-century expedition into the Delta region of today’s Contra Costa County. The Delta de Anza Regional Trail currently comprises more than 17 miles of the planned 20-mile length. When complete, it will generally follow the East Bay Municipal Utility District’s corridor and the Contra Costa Water District’s Contra Costa Canal.

The Delta de Anza Regional Trail offers recreation opportunities and is an alternative transportation corridor connecting communities in several and eastern Contra Costa County. It provides a scenic trail for local residents of Concord, Mount Diablo Community College, and to regional and community parks. The community parks have play areas for children and are excellent rest stops during longer trips, providing restrooms, drinking water, and picnic facilities.

The trail intersects the McFadden Trail at Antioch and the Marsh Creek Regional Trail in Oakley. It connects to other segments of Contra Costa County’s western and eastern greenbelts along the way, which offer respite from mid-day summer heat.

Delta de Anza Regional Trail

The Delta de Anza Regional Trail is connected to Big Break Regional Trail service roads, unless otherwise posted. Bicycles are not permitted, either ridden, walked or carried, in areas posted “No Bicycles.”

Riders should call out or sound a warning when overtaking other trail users.

Bicycles may be ridden on designated bicycle trails, and on fire or service roads, unless otherwise posted. Bicycles, unattended or carried on paths, are permitted at “Bikes Allowed” sites. The “Bikes Allowed” signs designate areas which are open to bicycles with the following exceptions:

- Bikes should not be used in a way menacing or annoying other trail users.
- Bikes are permitted only on paved or compacted surfaces.

Bikes should use a helmet while riding on trails and roadways.

The trail intersects the Mokulumne Trail in Curry Point Regional Preserve.

The Marsh Creek Regional Trail in easternmost Contra Costa County winds along Marsh Creek through bountiful tracts of open farmland and oak woodlands. The proposed multi-use trail is more than eight miles long and extends from the west-side edge of Big Break south to Concord Avenue in Brentwood. When completed, the trail will be 14 miles long and connect the fertile Delta region with the wooded foothills of Mount Diablo Regional Preserve. The quiet serenity of Round Valley Regional Preserve east of Pt. Diablo State Park. Trail users can access several community parks and greenbelts along the way which offer respite from mid-day summer heat.

Multi-Use, Paved Trails:

- Hikers, Horses, and Bikes

LEGEND

- Multi-Use, Paved Trails:
- Hike, Horse, and Bike

GROUND RULES

BICYCLES: may be ridden on designated bicycle trails, and on fire or service roads, unless otherwise posted. Bicycles, unattended or carried on paths, are permitted at “Bikes Allowed” sites. The “Bikes Allowed” signs designate areas which are open to bicycles with the following exceptions:

- Bikes should not be used in a way menacing or annoying other trail users.
- Bikes are permitted only on paved or compacted surfaces.

Bikes should use a helmet while riding on trails and roadways.

The trail intersects the Mokulumne Trail in Curry Point Regional Preserve.