The early Delta was the backyard of intrepid watermen from communities such as Antioch, Pittsburg, and Martinez where schooner and skiff were a passport to incredible duck hunting in the open bays, sloughs, and tule-choked edges. Efforts of waterfowlers to conserve and enhance these water wonderlands have preserved migratory waterfowl, shorebirds, and myriad other wildlife for all future generations.

Yancey Forest-Knowles, California Waterfowl Association