BACKGROUND

On July 7, 2020, the East Bay Regional Park District Board of Directors adopted the Concord Hills Regional Park Land Use Plan (LUP) and certified the Environmental Impact Report, creating a new 2,500-acre park at the site of the former Concord Naval Weapons Station (CNWS). At the May 7, 2020 Board Executive Committee (Committee) meeting, after a staff presentation, the Committee directed staff to continue with consultation with native peoples of the East Bay and their tribal leadership regarding a name for the future park, and to bring the LUP to the full Board separately from the naming selection of the park. On August 3, 2020, after consulting with most tribal leaders in one-on-one meetings, staff brought an informational report to the Committee, pledging to return on September 3rd, with a naming recommendation.

“Concord Hills Regional Park” has been the working name for the future park since 2013, when it was included in the Park District’s Master Plan. Staff solicited input on the name of the future park throughout the planning process during community engagement events for the LUP and through public online surveys. Summaries of these surveys are found in the staff report from the May 7, 2020 Board Executive Committee meeting.

Tribal consultation: With the assistance of former Park District Cultural Services Coordinator Dr. Beverly Ortiz, Park District staff started with a list of contacts from the California Native American Heritage Commission, which included federally recognized tribes, and tribes and tribal entities with cultural affiliations to Ohlone, Bay Miwok, and/or Delta Miwok homelands. From that larger list, staff was able to contact and speak with several leaders of East Bay tribal entities, and all agree the new park in Concord should be named in recognition of the native peoples who lived in the Concord/ Mt. Diablo area, or a name that uses their language, to reflect their culture. The tribal leaders spoken with to date are from:

- Association of Ramaytush Ohlone
The Amah Mutsun Tribal Band declined to participate in the park naming conversation, as the Concord area is outside their traditional tribal territory.

Tribal entities which were contacted, but with whom staff did not speak by the date of this report:

- North Valley Yokuts Tribe
- Santa Rosa Rancheria

Staff held consensus meetings with all the tribal leaders previously consulted with (one leader did not participate in the consensus meeting). The leaders appeared to reach consensus on a name, “Chupcan Territory Regional Park” named for the Chupcan, the Bay-Miwok speaking people who lived in the area now becoming the park. As others tribal leaders had suggested “Chupcan Regional Park” be the park name, the choice by some to add the word “Territory” was explained as referring, in a general way, to the larger area where the Chupcan people lived at the time of European contact (see map as Attachment A). It was not intended to demarcate any specific boundary of the Chupcan people, because current representations of tribal boundaries are modern approximations, actual tribal boundaries were based on natural features, and fluid over time. There was a discussion of a non-western spelling of the name, to make sure the park name was linguistically accurate to the Bay Miwok language group, and “Cupkan Regional Park” or “Cupkkaan Regional Park,” were suggested.

However, further clarification following the consensus meeting reiterated that for some tribal leaders, “Chupcan Territory” was their second choice, and their first choice was for using the Bay Miwok language in the park name, which is important to them to perpetuate their living culture. Tribal leaders considered several culturally-affiliated park names in the Bay Miwok language (see Attachment B). One idea which garnered the most interest for the leaders who wanted a Bay Miwok language name was to convey the past generations of elders and the generations to come in the future: “Caaco’ anikssan Regional Park”—“place of our grandchildren’s future.” Other considerations were “Wakaaceko’ oonimun Regional Park” – “Rivers coming together,” and “Wile’weepa Regional Park” – “Flower Hill.”

Staff noted that there will be naming opportunities for trails and park features in the future interpretive and trails planning for the Park. There was also interest from some tribal leaders in using the Park’s interpretive plan to present a history of Native American participation in the United States military, connecting the native presence on the land to the use of the land by the United States Navy for the last 75 years. Also, to include interpretive signage of natural features of the park which includes names in the Bay Miwok language. Staff is working on this research for possible inclusion at a later date.

Park District Naming Policy: The Park District’s naming policy states, in part:

Regional Parks, trails, features, areas and facilities will be named after natural features such as plant and animal life, geographic, topographic or paleontological features or for cultural features such as archaeological and historic artifacts, historic persons, families or events. Existing historically related names shall be respected.1

A park’s name gives the public a sense of what they can expect at the park. Park names tell the cultural, historical, geological or biological stories of the land. For the new regional park in Concord, a name will tell about the location of this park, and of the people who have used this land during different periods of history. The name can assist with the interpretive program of the park – telling the stories of the many people who lived and used this land.

The 2004 Naming Policy guides the process by which the Park District selects a name, starting with coordination by the Planning department, either in an “appropriate planning document for the parkland unit or by separate Board Resolution.” Four steps follow in the Naming Policy:

1. Staff will submit naming recommendations for review by the Board Executive Committee. The Board Executive Committee will make a recommendation to the full Board of Directors.

2. The Park Advisory Committee (PAC) will review the Board Executive Committee recommendation and make its own recommendation to the Board of Directors.

3. In a case where the PAC disagrees with the Board Executive Committee’s recommendation, the recommendation will be returned to the Board Executive Committee.

4. The full Board will consider the naming proposal.

As a part of the development of the LUP and naming process, staff conducted an online survey with the leading names suggested throughout the public outreach process to date. As tribal input had not yet been solicited, the survey did not include a native affiliated name. However, interest in a native name was a recurring theme in the “Other” category. The 1,200 votes from the four public surveys indicated a preference for the following four names and Other suggestions: “Concord Hills,” “Diablo Vista,” “Los Medanos,” “Monte Del Diablo,” and “Other.” The top selected names are listed below in alphabetical order, with staff’s evaluation of advantages (pro) and disadvantages (con) for each potential park name. In each case, the future regional park’s name would be “________ Regional Park.”

1. Concord Hills: This has been used as a placeholder name for the Future Park during the land use planning process.
   - Pro: straightforward name—lets people know where they are and what to expect at the park. This name was selected in a resolution by the Concord City Council a few months ago as their preferred name for the park.
   - Con: the name was made-up for the planning process and is not a previously recognized geographic name. The name does not reference the park’s location with respect to the City of Pittsburg.

2. Diablo Vista:
   - Pro: name recognizes the view from the future park to neighboring Mt. Diablo
   - Con: not an official geographic, historic or topographic name. Also, it is the name of a school in Danville and a residential development in Livermore.

3. Los Medanos: Named for the 1835 Mexican land grant and ranch of Jose Mesa and Jose Miquel, which included today’s communities of Pittsburg, Bay Point, and Antioch, this is the most widely recognized name for the range of hills between Concord and Pittsburg.
   - Pro: broadly recognized geographic name for the hills in the future regional park.
   - Con: future regional park is not actually located on land that was part of Rancho Los Medanos; and, the name is primarily associated with Los Medanos College in Pittsburg.

4. Monte Del Diablo: Name of 1834 Mexican land grant and ranch of Don Salvio Pacheco, land which includes today’s City of Concord.
   - Pro: recognizes the period of Mexican history of the land.
   - Con: may be confused with nearby Mount Diablo State Park.

5. “Other”: Individual responses from online “Other” suggestions which received more than a single vote were discussed in the May 7, 2020 Board Executive Committee report. In general, the “Other” responses suggested an interest in a native-affiliated name as well as names which honored the sailors who died or were injured in the Port Chicago explosion of 1944 and the “Port Chicago Fifty,” who were convicted during the mutiny trial; military history, individuals associated with Concord, and geographic names, such as “Vista Diablo.”

While the LUP contains suggested names of trails, roads, and natural park features, it will be during the park’s development stages when individual park features are named. For example, the LUP contains proposed names recognizing the area’s Native American heritage, such as “Chupcan Trail.” It is during the park’s implementation stage, at the time of the park opening, that these features will be given their final names.

ACTIONS TO RESULT FROM NAMING DECISION

Upon receiving a final recommendation from the Committee, Planning staff will present the item to the full Board of Directors for consideration.
Upon Board adoption of the naming recommendation, Park District staff will complete the following actions:

- Planning and GIS staff will add this name to the Park District’s list of names to avoid future naming redundancy;
- GIS staff will update the parks database to reflect the change;
- The Park Supervisor will install park signage; and
- Public Affairs staff will include this update in the printing of the park brochure, and update the Park District’s website.

RECOMMENDATION

Staff recommends the Board Executive Committee consider either “Chupcan Territory Regional Park” as the name of the future Park in Concord (with the further consideration of a linguistically accurate spelling), or, “Caaco’aanikssan Regional Park,” and forward a final recommendation to the full Board of Directors. Aside from staff time, there is no cost associated with this naming.
