

Come Play Today ...

Year opened: 1953 Acres: 87
Highlights: Swimming pool, hiking, redwood groves, baseball field, volleyball court, all-accessible childrens' play area, reservable picnic areas.
Did you know? The park is named after union leader Thomas J. Roberts, who was active in the Park District's formation and was elected to the first Board of Directors in 1934.

THE REDWOODS This parkland is a popular stop for tourists visiting the Bay Area because the park's entrance and parking area are set in a lush grove of fragrant, second-growth redwood trees, making it the best access to redwoods for visitors who cannot hike a long distance or have failed to pack their favorite hiking shoes. The original grove was logged between 1840 and 1860 to support the needs of a growing Bay Area community.

Roberts is the location of the famous "landmark trees" noted in British Royal Navy Captain F. Beechey's 1826 logbook. Two giant redwoods were used by sailors as navigational aids to avoid the treacherous Blossom Rock submerged in the bay between Alcatraz Island and San Francisco. Captain Beechey wrote that in order to miss the rock, one should line up the northern tip of Yerba Buena Island with "two trees . . . south of Palos Colorados . . . too conspicuous to be overlooked." The distance from the sailors' ships to these trees was 16 miles, which attests to their size. Today, the "landmark trees" location is marked by state historic plaque #962 near the Madrone picnic area.

Another redwood grove can be reached by entering Redwood Regional Park at the Redwood Gate main entrance, two miles east of Skyline Boulevard and down the canyon on Redwood Road. Park at Canyon Meadow Staging Area and stroll along Stream Trail through the shady canyon.
