Dotson Family Marsh

Restoration & Public Access Project

The Dotson Family Marsh Restoration & Public Access Project was completed in Spring 2017 - a 150 acre expansion of Point Pinole Regional Shoreline. The 150-acre site has undergone an extensive $14 million habitat and public access project funded by East Bay Regional Park District local bond Measures CC and WW and more than 10 federal and state funding partners.

The newly restored marsh has been designed to provide high quality habitat for threatened and endangered species, such as the Ridgway's rail and the salt marsh harvest mouse. Trails and other public access amenities are now open for the public to enjoy. These include:

- 1.5-mile extension of the San Francisco Bay Trail south of Point Pinole.
- New southern entrance to Point Pinole Regional Shoreline via a 24-space parking lot with restrooms accessible from Goodrick Avenue off Richmond Parkway.
- Walk-in picnic area
- Spur trail to existing jetty (China Clipper Spur Trail to Cordgrass Jetty Trail)

The District will be monitoring and maintaining vegetation while habitat restoration is in progress over the next several years. Please stay on the trails during your visit and enjoy your Regional Parks!
