

A Shoreline Story

Year opened: 1979 Acres: 343
 Highlights: Hiking, shoreline access, fishing, picnicking, lawn areas.
 Did you know? The pier at Grangers Wharf was built in the 1870s on land donated by Dr. John Srentzel, the father-in-law of naturalist John Muir.

This parkland is the product of a joint effort between the City of Martinez and the East Bay Regional Park District. In 1974, the parkland was a seldom-used area made up of marshland and industrial fill. Today, the recreational areas include meadows, picnic areas, and a natural marsh environment with hiking trails. This parkland also focuses on restoration and preservation of the surrounding saltwater marshes.

The resulting shoreline park offers visitors a variety of experiences, including group picnic areas, softball and soccer fields, and bocce ball courts. The western section has quiet lawns, family picnic areas, ponds and creeks. Nearly three miles of trails wind through the marsh and along the shoreline. In 2016, the park was renamed Ted and Kathy Radke Martinez Regional Shoreline, honoring the Radkes' tireless efforts to preserve the Martinez waterfront and marshland.

MARSH ENHANCEMENT The $4.5-million Martinez Marsh Enhancement Project sponsored by Caltrans, the City of Martinez, and the Park District was completed in the spring of 2002. The enhanced marsh alleviates rainy season flood conditions in the downtown Martinez area, serves as mitigation for wetland disruption due to replacement of the Carquinez Bridge, and creates valuable wildlife habitat as well as providing an improved visitor experience in this peaceful natural area.

The marsh enhancement project included expansion of Alhambra Creek's east bank and work on the west bank, and creation of a tidal channel leading west from the creek. It also included the retrofitted arch bridge over Alhambra Creek, construction of a 240-foot boardwalk over the marsh on the Pickleweed Trail, construction of a 120-foot bridge over the creek at the Berrellesa Street entrance, and installation of benches and interpretive panels.
